Keep your child safe!

Last week we provided you with a brief warning message about a new tv show called Squid Games. This is a new phenomenon on Netflix that has begun to develop a cult following. The program carries an age 15+ rating for a reason and nobody younger should be allowed to watch this. Please ensure that your children are not watching this.

It has now been adapted to other formats which children can unfortunately easily access. Versions have been found to be on websites, streaming services and games such as YouTube, Minecraft and Roblox. These adaptations are just as dangerous to a child as the main tv show. So please ensure that you have restrictions in place on devices and are observant of what your children are accessing. We want to protect our children as much as possible together as a team and a community.

Mini goodbye

On Friday 22nd October we say a mini-goodbye and good luck to Miss Platts. Miss Platts is going on secondment to another JMAT school in the trust. She starts this secondment on the 1st November until the end of the school year.

Do not panic Y1 - after half term you will have Mrs Scott full time. Good luck Miss Platts x

Huge well done!

We would also like to really champion a pupil. This week he has demonstrated the true community spirit of Ferham. When a new pupil arrived at Ferham and in his class he has supported them through helping staff with translation, guided them with work and encouraged them to join in with games at break time. He was never asked to do this, it was all done of his own accord. All this whilst still producing his own work, demonstrating exemplary behaviour whilst always being ready, respectful and safe. A HUGE WELL DONE & THANK YOU TO RIO!
